

How do I read?

Who do I address?

How to not give up?

How do they come about

Wait, Who?

Can politicians answer questions?

In what tone do I ask?

How would alternative world be?

How many assumptions I set in a question?

Is there an afterlife for those who are godless?

Where is my phone?

Who are my people?

How do eukaryotes ask questions?

Is there already a possibility of an answer
when I set the question?

Has it been studied why people are so mean?

Lust for power?

Why do we need to stay sane?

Do plants hesitate?

How to know what to do?

How to do something meaningful?

And if dancing is not for everyone, what is?

Can we save the world? Or are we fucked?
