

Walls and wallpaper

I became interested in the walls of the buildings and the textures within them. I began recreating them and trying to explore them spatially and also with the haptic eye. Can the walls which show the layers of time become a space in which to explore?