Why you need humidifiers

One of the most important air parameters is humidity. The level of humidity in a room directly affects the health of the people living or working in it. Lack of moisture leads to dry skin and, as a result, its early aging, irritation of the mucous membrane, which opens the way for the penetration of various infections and increases the risk of respiratory diseases. The lack of moisture also affects wooden products: they dry out, cracks appear. Also, pets and some plants suffer from a lack of moisture in the air.

It is very important to maintain the optimal level of humidity in children's rooms. In young children, the skin and mucous membranes are incredibly delicate and sensitive, so dry air is very dangerous for their health.

Humidifiers allow you to maintain a comfortable level of humidity in the room. Some humidifiers, in addition to actually humidifying, purify and even ionize the air.
