

DESIGN & WINE!

WITH THOMAS THWAITES

Welcome to Multiplum's second edition of Design & Wine, this time featuring Thomas Thwaites (on Zoom)! Tuesday 6th of December 18:30 in Møllendalsbakken II.

Join the quiz game—win a book! Tear down this poster and knock yourself out filling out the answers! Deliver at the KMD reception mailbox before Monday December 5th. The winner will be announced at the Multiplum Design & Wine event.*

For legal reasons (and so we know how much wine and popcorn to buy) we need a list of who is coming. Send us a DM on Instagram @multiplum_ or e-mail us at hei.multiplum@gmail.com by Monday December 5th if you want to join the event.

* You have to join the event to win the book.

Across

4. What is the name of the track cyclist that battled a 700w toaster to generate enough energy to create a golden-brown toast?
6. Which designer that has tried to become a goat to escape the angst inherent in being a human?
7. One of Thomas Thwaites' projects is part of the collection of one of London's most well-known museums. What is the name of this museum?
8. What is the title of Thomas Twaites' first book?
9. Who invented the first toaster in 1906?

Down

1. Fiona Raby and Anthony Dunne were Thomas' tutors during his MA in Design Interactions (2009). From which college did he graduate?
2. Do we need to shift away from a human-centered perspective on design towards a more-than-human perspective?
3. What is the animal family that the goat belongs to?
5. Is there such a thing as objectivity in design?

Multiplum never sleeps

Multiplum is the collaboration between PhD Candidates Siv Lier and Ingrid Rundberg
