We would like to invite you to sit down and share some thoughts and reflections on the experience you have just had by choosing from the series of questions below.

In order to choose which questions to answer, please answer the three following questions...

- Which question resonates with you the most?
 - Which question do you want to be asked?
 - Which question do you want to ask?

How did you get here?

Who were you with?

What did you give / what did you take?

What's changed between then and now? This could be perspectives, motivations for the future, or your relationship with your partner.

What was the most important moment in the walk for you and why?

How did you know which way to go?

How did you negotiate proximity?

How did your relationship with your partner develop or change throughout the journey?

How would you describe the dialogue that was taking place between you and your partner?

What did your walk look like?

a) draw it on the back or

b) re-perform it here in Slessor Gardens, either alone or with your partner

Did you experience the city differently?

Did you take any unexpected routes?

Why did you make the choices you made?

What did/do you share with your partner?

What happened?

What now?
