

Practical information

Convocation: On Expanded Language-based Practices is a 3-day event taking place within the frame of the Research Pavilion, Venice (16 – 18 June 2019).

There are over 60 contributors taking part in Convocation, which will contribute to a vibrant energy within the Pavilion, with plenty of opportunity for conversation and the sharing of research. Convocation is conceived as a gathering, a coming together. In addition to the programme itself, we hope that the frame of the Pavilion provides a welcoming and relaxing space for connecting with artistic-researchers, a context for being-with and for sharing time together.

You can register for the whole event or single days.

The programme is now live online and can be viewed here:
