

Make a Curated List

Read through as many texts in the compost that you can find the time and interest for.

Choose three texts from The Compost together with three other texts/references which are not in The Compost.

What was your motivation for choosing these texts?

What is your relation to this particular lump of information, structure, matter?

Write an introductory text (half a page) where you describe the motivation for choosing these texts, how you think they relate, what is at stake for you when you are placing them next to each other?

Finalize the Curated List by giving the titles/references you have chosen at the end of your introduction.
